The Decade of the CSO

CSO magazine and CSOonline.com launched in September 2002. Our tenth anniversary edition looks at the profound changes in the security profession over the past decade, and how the CSO role has become a critical part of enterprise risk management efforts. In leading organizations, the focus of the security group really is on enabling the business mission.

This issue will include data from the exclusive 2012 State of the CSO survey, as well as critical observations about the future of security from leading CSOs.

The Security Standard

September 10-11, 2012
Marriott Brooklyn Bridge
New York, NY

The Security Standard conference, produced by CSO magazine, is where 200+ of the nation’s top CSOs, risk executives and security experts will explore and discover cutting edge approaches to security leadership and risk mitigation.

As a sponsor of this conference, you will have the opportunity to participate in main-stage and breakout panel discussions, which will greatly accelerate your sales cycle, and build and strengthen strategic relationships with CSOs across all industries. The Security Standard gives your organization the ability to take full advantage of branding opportunities, enhancing your company’s image and creating awareness. Additionally, as a sponsor, you will be able to position your organization as a strategic partner, and not just another vendor, by interacting with attendees face-to-face during the many dedicated networking times.
